Explore the radical transformation of gender, sex, desire, and personhood in early 20th century Europe. This course tracks the explosive collision of art, science, and identity in Vienna and Berlin. Discover how modernist arts and cutting-edge sciences intersected to fundamentally redefine the human psyche.

Highlights include:

- Freud's psychoanalytic revolution in Vienna
- Queer liberation at Berlin's Institute of Sexology (est. 1919)
- Radical ideas tracked through cinema, novellas, and visual art
