*- Substitute courses (aka "transfer courses" are marked "TR"). Each TR course must be accompanied by a TR form approved by the Director of Graduate Studies. Subject to approval by the Director of Graduate Studies, a student may use transfer courses (i.e. graduate courses taken at another university) or graduate courses taken outside the Philosophy Department, as follows: (1) one course in each of the three sub-fields (the other one in each sub-field must be taken in the Department); (2) one course may be counted toward the history course requirement; (3) one course may be used under each of the four traditions (the other one in each tradition must be taken in the Department).

^- A single course may count toward each of three categories, but no more than once in a single category. For example, a course may count in a sub-disciplinary field such as metaphysics, and, at the same time, apply to both the history requirement and the traditions requirement.
